

What is the Assisted Voluntary Return and Reintegration programme (AVRR) ?

The Assisted Voluntary Return and Reintegration (AVRR) programme implemented by the International Organization for Migration (IOM) for more than four decades provides administrative, logistical, and financial support, including reintegration assistance, to migrants unable or unwilling to remain in the host/transit country and who wish to return voluntarily to their country of origin, but cannot do so on their own. The AVRR programme is based on seven key principles:

Who are the AVRR implementation partners in Morocco?

As Morocco is a country of origin, transit and destination, IOM Morocco implements the Assisted Voluntary Return and Reintegration Programme (AVRR) in close collaboration with the Moroccan Government, particularly the Ministry of Interior and the diplomatic representations of countries of origin or reception of assisted migrants. This programme supports the Moroccan Government's migration management strategies. Accordingly, IOM supports the implementation of efficient migration policies in Morocco by, for example, participating in the steering committees and sub-committees of the National Immigration and Asylum Strategy (SNIA), which includes the «return migration» component among the cross-cutting programs.

IOM has also developed an extensive network of partnerships with international organizations active in Morocco, NGOs and specialists in legal, medical or research fields. This network of partners continues to grow thanks to the presence of migrant orientation points and IOM consultants in various cities in Morocco (Casablanca, Oujda, Khouribga, El Kelaa des Sraghnaa, etc.).

What are the steps of the AVRR programme from Morocco?

The AVRR programme in Morocco offers the alternative of a dignified and safe return to migrants in a vulnerable situation in Morocco and supports them towards a sustainable reintegration in their countries of origin.

Reintegration is implemented in collaboration with IOM offices in the countries of origin and their respective partners.

What are the steps of the AVRR programme to Morocco?

The reintegration of returning Moroccans is considered sustainable when returning Moroccans reach levels of economic self-sufficiency, social stability in their returning community, and psychosocial well-being to cope with the levers of (re) migration. Returning migrants who have achieved sustainable reintegration are able to make migration decisions by choice rather than necessity.

Les cinq étapes de la procédure de réintégration des marocains de retour

Reintegration support is done through IOM and its partners including reintegration counselors currently based in Casablanca, El Kelaa des Sraghna and Khouribga. Their job is to identify the opportunities as well as the actors providing support related to reintegration in their region and ensuring the referral of Moroccans returnees to the most appropriate structures or programmes to assist them in their reintegration projects.

AVVR from Morocco in numbers

Nearly 13,800 migrants in Morocco have benefited from voluntary return since 2005 for returns to 40 countries on all continents.

In 2020, 796 migrants (604 men, 192 woman) requested assisted voluntary return. Among them; 8 were identified as potential victims of trafficking.

The main return countries (in order of importance) are Côte d'Ivoire, Guinea, and Senegal.

* The number of assisted returnees depends on the availability of funds, not the number of requests.

AVRR to Morocco in numbers

More than 1,829 returning Moroccans received support in their reintegration process.

In 2020, 148 Moroccans have been assisted in their reintegration (137 men, 10 women, and 1 girl). Among them, 2 have been identified as potential victims of trafficking and 2 have been assisted for their special medical needs.
